Forecast For Northeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Tuesday 20 Jul 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Warm, sunny evening for most. Coastal cloud spreading inland overnight.

This Evening and Tonight:
Warm sunny evening for most, followed by a humid and mild night. Cloud perhaps lingering along some coasts, will then thicken overnight before spreading inland by dawn. Some mist or fog patches are then likely. Minimum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Wednesday:
Overnight low cloud and fog patches clearing to the coast through the morning. Then generally fine, dry with sunny spells. Very warm inland, but cooler towards the coast. Maximum temperature 27 deg C (81 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Sunny, dry, and warm Thursday, especially inland, although low cloud spreading west overnight. Less warm Friday, despite early cloud clearing to sunshine. Cloudier and cooler Saturday, but staying mostly dry.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.